Mitchell's Bill - The Separation of the Issue from the Fiscal Branch of Treasury Business-The Effect of the Deficiency of 1893 Upon the Gold Reserve - The Exchangeability of Standard Silver Dollars for Gold Coin.

New York Journal of Commerce: A elgorous report has been prepared by Hepresentative Mitchell, of New York, in support of his bill providing for a division of issue and redemption in the treasury and the maintenance of the parity of different forms of money, and was submitted to the house to-day. The bill was ordered favorably reported, with only one or two dissenting votes, at the meeting of the ammittee on Thursday last, and Mr. Mitchell was unanimously requested by its supporters to draft the report for presentation to the house. The report discusses the conditions which existed after the panic of 1893, due in some measure to the deficiency in revenue and contrasts these conditions with those of the Spanish war, when national credit was unimpaired, largely because adequate provision has been made for revenue. Mr. Mitchell says provide for the maintenance of the ublic credit at the highest standard. and to make this credit so distinct from the fiscal operations of the government that it would endure in spite of exravagant appropriations and unfortu nate revenue laws. His review of the provisions and scope of the bill is as order to accomplish this result.

"In order to accomplish this result, the bill provides generally for a separation of the issue and redemption branch of the issue and redemption branch of the treasury department and provide that separate books shall be kept in each branch and that there shall be transferred to this issue and redemption division as a redemption fund the funds now held against outstanding certificates, and that there shall be also established a gold reserve fund which shall be used for the redemption of United States notes and treasury notes and to make other exchanges provided for in the bill; also that all records and accounts relating to the issue, relemption and exchange of the several kinds of United States mone shall be kept in this division. "Section 2 provides that there shall be transferred from the general fund in the treasury and taken up on the books of the issue and redemption division of the treasury, the amount in gold coln and buillion held against outstanding currency certificates; the amount in silver dollars and silver builton held against outstanding treasury rotes of 1890. It is evident that this paragraph in nowise contracts the money or currency of the country one dollar, as the entire redemption fund, show provided for, is held now by the

This provision of the bill, therefore, would make the eather reserve fund only thirty millions more than the fund now set aside as necessary to maintain the credit of the bill would be to contract the currency more than it is to-day by only about thirty odd millions. It is perfect-by worden, even to men in favor of free siter, that we cannot maintain the gold standard and be able to redsem at any and all times the various currencies of the United States with either one American eagle or a million—one would probably be as efficacious as a million of them. Experience has taught us that a hundred million dollars was the lowest amount to which the gold reserve should be allowed to go and that was the limit of safety. The dancer curres under the present system that our limit of safety is con-The danger comes under the present system that our limit of safety is con-stantly threatened by the treasury be-ing compelled to put out money appro-priated by Congress and to pay it out even if it absorbs the entire reserve fund. fund. The treasury has no option in the matter.

"It is perfectly evident, therefore, that if Congress, by inadvertence or otherwise, should make heavy appropriations and fall to give authority to take money by selling bonds, that this reserve fund, which is the bed rock of our credit, might be absolutely depleted under the present law, and a worse panie that we have ever yet experienced be the result. It is, therefore, our opinion that this reserve fund should be so constructed by law that it cannot be impaired under any conditions, and we believe that this will be accomplished by the provisions of this bill should they become enacted into law.

"Sections 4 and 6 provide for means of maintaining the gold reserve.

"Section 5 provides especially what payments shall be made and what exchanges shall be effected.

"Section 7 provides that when the United States noice referenced in sold coin or held in the division of issue and redemption, they shall not be released or exchanged except for gold coin.

"The practical effect of this provision is that the men who draw gold in large sums from the treasury shall have their ability to do this gradually cur-tailed by the locking up of the paper

"The natural effect of this scarcity is to compel the great banks, which constantly have large sums of gold on hand, to take this gold to the treasury and get the notes held in the issue and redemption division in exchange therefor. Customers of our great banks are not in the habit of handling gold and do not want it for their use in daily transactions, and if this provision were enacted into a law it would, in our opinion, be a most successful method of assisting in maintaining the gold in the treasury without requiring the issue of bonds."

The Features of the Money and Stock Markets.

NEW YORK, Feb. 21 .- Money on call steady at 2024 per cent.; last loan. 21/2 per cent. Prime mercantile paper, 2%@3% per cent. Sterling exchange strong, with actual business in bankers' oills at $4 864@4 864 for demand, and bills at $4 854,64 85½ for demand, and $4 846 84½ for sixty days; posted rates $4 84½.48 85 and $4 85½.04 87; commercial bills $4 8304 83½. Silver certificates nominal at 59½.60½c. Bar silver 50½c. Mexican dollars 47½c.

As a result of to-day's trading on the stock exchange the standard shares were generally off fractionally, while the coalers improved materially, the advance in Jersey Central being about 4 points, while changes in the industrials are mixed. The specialities and the inare mixed. The specialities and the in-dustrials showed pronounced strength in the early dealings, then became fev-erish, with alternate displays of weak-ness and strength. The continental and London markets showed some firmness after the early dealings, partly in-fluenced by the Bank of Germany's re-duction of the rate of discount. Com-mission house buying was large in the early dealings, but, excepting the industrials, changes were not notable Tobacco continued its upward movement until a rumor was disseminated that the short interest had received intimations that a private settlement of their short commitments could be arranged without recourse to the open Tobacco, on the circulation of market. these reports, dropped over 11 points from its high figure of 179, ending with a net loss of a fractien. The punish-ment which apparently had been meted out to the shorts in Tobacco caused an uneasy feeling among those with short commitments in Sugar, and was re-flected in covering from time to time with a resultant rise at one time of 4 points, the greater part of which was subsequently lost. The declaration of points, the greater part of which was subsequently lost. The declaration of the regular dividend on Leather pre-ferred lifted the price over 2 points, most of which it lost. Intimations that the steamship mail subsidy bill might become a law benefited Pacific Mail 1½ points. Metropolitan Street Railway and General Election showed strength at times, but fell off with the rest of the market during the profit-taking pe riod in the afternoon. The strength of the anthracite coalers was attrib-utable to expectations in some quarters utable to expectations in some quarters of an announcement presently of a combination among the companies for restricting the reproduction and maintenance. Great Northern made an extreme gain of 3½ per cent., and Third Avenue 5½ per cent. The large speculation in the industrials was in a way responsible on this, the eve of a holiday, for some profit-taking, during which most railways fell off considerably, with a slight recovery in some cases, but the market closed rather heavy. London was a moderate purchaser, and the total dealings in the local market were smaller than yesterday, although they were in excess of 900,000 shares.

The demand for railway mortgages was less urgent to-day, but prices in the main showed considerable firmness. Total sales, $3,500,000. U. S. 3s advanced \(\frac{1}{3} \) in the bid price.

Breadsinffs and Provisions.

CHICAGO - What news to-day was character to seriously alarm either side, and after a good many ups and downs over a %c range May wheat closed unchanged. Corn left off unchanged and oats 1/sc higher. Provisions were wanted by shorts and pork gained 20c, lard 5c and ribs 10c.

Unresponsive Liverpool cables gave wheat air easy start and May com-menced 4c lower at 725c. While the opening price expressed the opinion of the majority there was, however, an in-fluential minerity that thought the con-counted in region of the confluential minority that thought the con-cession in price a valuable opportunity to possess themselves of some wheat and May quickly recovered from the opening decline and in less than an hour had touched 73½c. They buying that woke up the shorts and disturbed their confidence in lower prices came largely from the northwest and was brought about by a sensational drop in the tem-perature in the British possession, 20 degrees below zero being reported from Winnipeg. The receipts here and in the northwst were liberal, 116 cars at Chi-cago and 479 at Minneapolis and Duitth. The clearances of wheat and flour from northwst were liberal, 118 cars at Chicago and 479 at Minneapolls and Duluth. The clearances of wheat and flour from Atlantic ports amounted to 42,000 bushels. Bradstreet's report of 1,555,000 bushels reduction in the world's visible supply did not affect the market to any great extent. The holiday to-morrow appeared to be feared by the shorts, and although there was some disposition to sell at over 72c for May, it was wanted back again when any stand was made by the holders. Near the end the market was subjected to a little of the hammering process so dear to the heart of some of the old-time scalping, and under it May, which was pounded to 72%c. It took only a moderate show of resentment on the part of the bulls, however, to jump the market to 73%c, where it closed.

The threatened reinstatement of winter weather, with increased consumption as one of its consequences, strengthened corn. Receipts were large—1,032 cars—but the reported falling off in farmers' deliveries on account of the previous decline in prices prevented further selling of long corn and caused shorts to go cautiously. May opened $40.000 to 100 to 10
